Seeing that you were so nice to predict Michelle's future next year - I make the same prediction to you. This is a curse.

Just mawdy
poppy

Keep away from the boogie and the bop this summer. Next year I'll be number 1.

Hi Barb!

We had lots of fun
in French
camps.
Didn't we?
Hope to see you and Barb
next year
in French.
You're
nice.

Hi Barb,
Best of luck as a soprano.
Linda K.

Hi Barb,
I hope you have a good summer.
Toni

Hope you travel a lot this summer. How far do you plan to go? Mars?
(I hope) your new pal.

Hi Barb,
I've been nice
having you in French
keeping the good work
John (67)

Barb - People are smart as you should be brainwashed.

Mitch!

Barb,
Good luck
in '67

Bonjour
Charles De Gaulle

Boy what a brain
Why don't you share it with the rest of us.

Kitty (K. Hap.)
Oh I love history

Hi Barb the Brain
It's a shame
one kid should have so many brains! BOBB
LEEF!

Hi Barb,
Dum it a week, waiting?
upside down even?

Hi Barb,
Only French, for bad - Not really?
Good Luck -
Chyl.

Hi Jean

Hi Barb
Man, you were so quiet I didn't even know you were in my room.

Barb,
English,
French,
and homeroom were fun. Didn't hear you though.
Talk more.
Love, Joanne

Hi Barb
I hope you enjoyed Religion class sorry about the feet on your chair.
Paula

Hi Barb
Take it easy
this summer
Daddy

Barb
I had you in a couple classes
this year and I hope it will be the same
next year. See you later.
Carol

Hi Dum-Dum,
Happy landing on Mars. See you
next year,
Cindy.

Dear Friend,
It's been nice knowing you & I'm glad I'm moving to Manitowish in the morning
I'm going to be the school year!
first woman
astronaut, so maybe we'll meet on Mars
someday.
Chris

Happy days and
many blessings.
S. M. Rosarita, S.S. N.B.
Mary (Rachuck, you idiot!)

Hi
What a wonderful year. But remember
69
Best year yet
Carnet

Hi montana
don't forget to remove your antennae when you leave - see ya this summer

Hi Barb,
Too bad I didn't have your more classes. I hear you're pretty smart maybe you could have helped me out a little.
Good Luck. Be Good.
John 69

Hi Barb,
It sure was nice having you in Hendrick. Hope you have a good semester.
Patricia Page

Hi Barb,
I hope the year went okay for you (I don't know how it couldn't - brains),
Ann
Resch

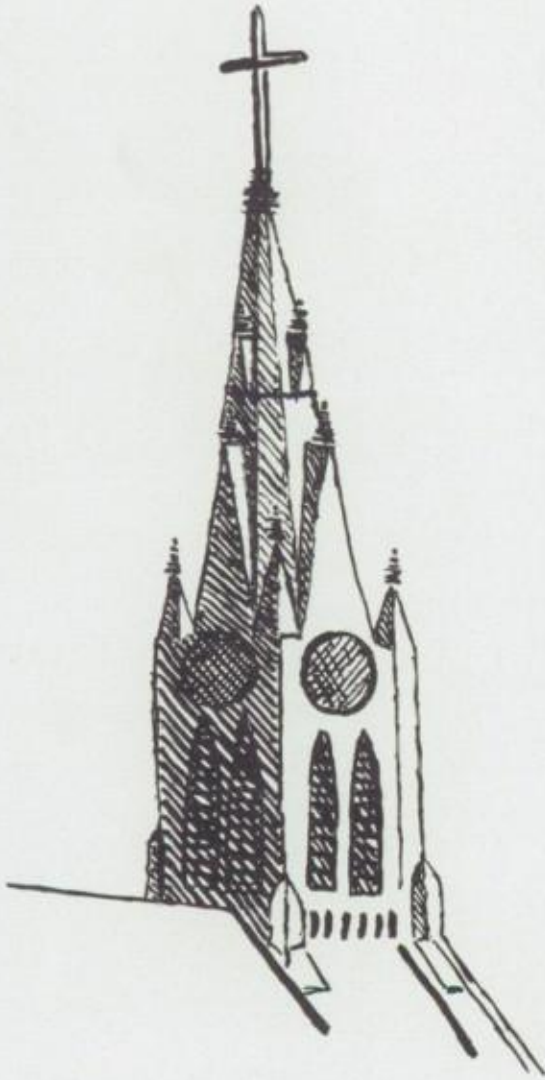

Barb,
Nice having you in English - even if it was for only the last semester.
Be good like me,
Johnette

Just I had your know how when
it comes to alg.
My mark could use it.
Steve Noll

Hi Barb,
I'm green
with envy - You've got the brains. I've got the gift (?) of gab.

SCHOOL LIFE

With each passing year, it rings louder through the laughter and smiles of her students; it grows deeper through the dedication of her teachers; and so it lives on—the spirit of St. Mary High.

THEIR IDEAS . . .

TOMORROW'S FACTS

Sister Mary Vincetta
Principal

Monsignor Joseph Becker
Pastor

Father Donald Stoegbauer
Administrator
Religion I, IV

A glimmer of understanding . . . A quest for knowledge stimulated by real interest . . . The solution of a difficult problem . . . These are a few of the elements which make teachers' lives worthwhile. Theirs is a difficult task, too often disguised by a combination of blackboards, erasers, and routine assignments. Their purpose is to instill in students principles that will guide them into adulthood. Thus, through their influence on the youth of today, teachers hold the key for tomorrow. For it is their ideas that will become tomorrow's proven facts; their ideals, tomorrow's beliefs; their hopes, tomorrow's future.

Father Gerald Bouressa, Religion I and II
 Father Jerome Koerner, Religion II and III

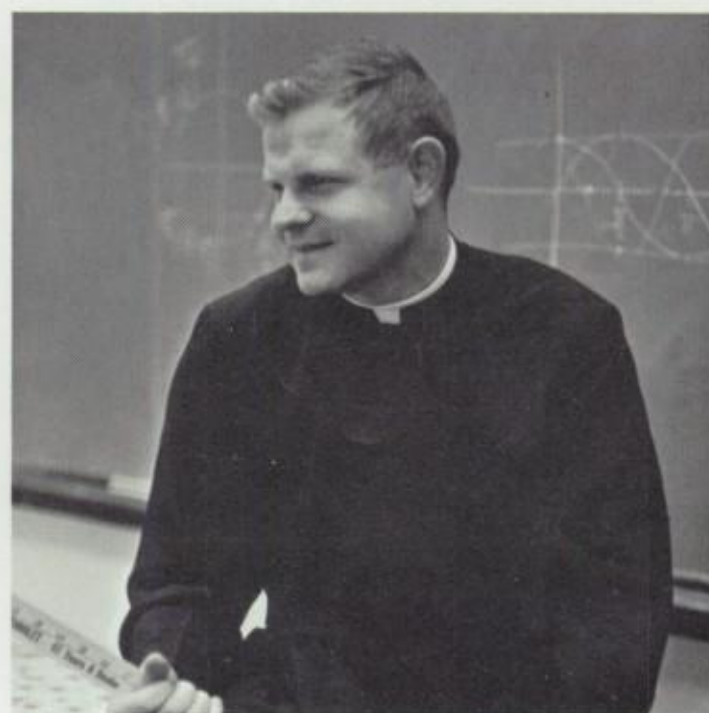

Father John Dewane, Religion I and IV, Sodality, Altar Boys

Father Martin Fox, Religion I
 Father Justin Werner, Religion II and III
 Father Stanley Kolbusz, Religion I and III

Father Theodore Hendricks, Religion I
 Father John Hephner, Religion I and III

Father David Kiefer, Religion II and IV

THEIR IDEALS . . .

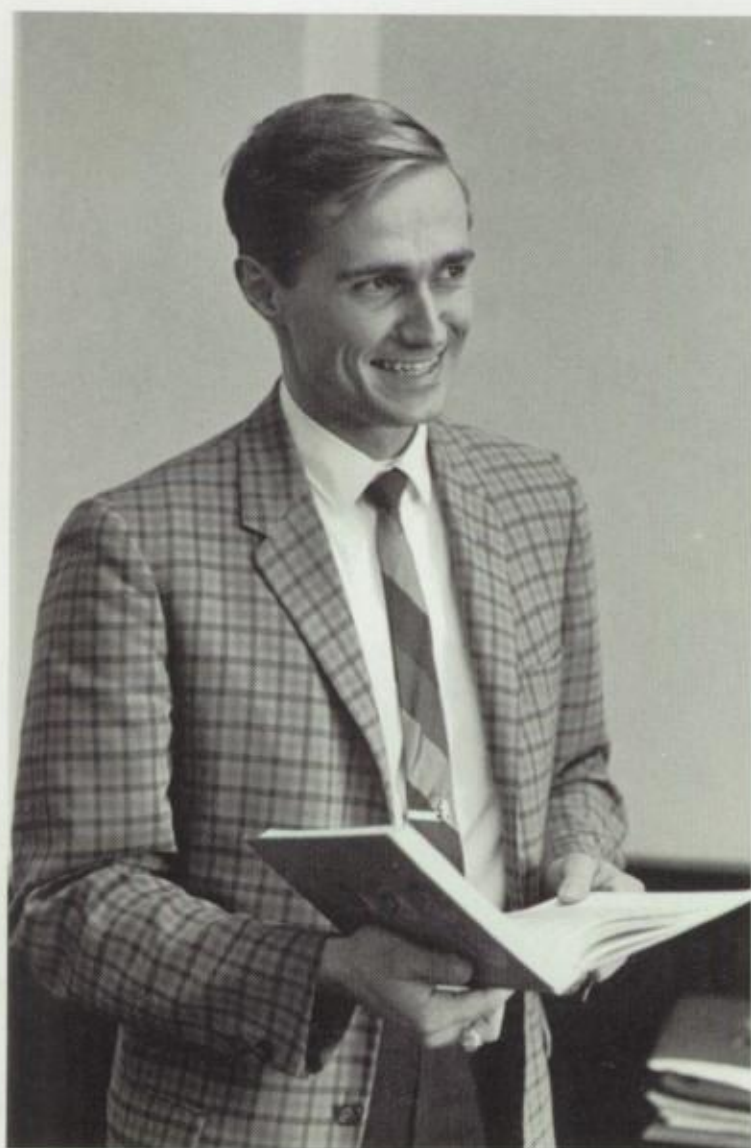

TOMORROW'S BELIEFS

Mrs. Barbara Lenz, our part-time Typing I and general business teacher, devotes her spare time to her daughter, Christine Marie, and to her husband.

Sister Brendan Marie, Shorthand I and II, transcription, bookkeeping, and office practice instructor, finds pleasure in reading mystery stories and playing pinochle.

Mr. Robert Sledz, when not involved in teaching his Latin I and II classes, finds enjoyment in tennis and skiing.

Latin is the basis of all other Western languages - including French.
R. Sledz

Sister M. Regine, along with teaching sculpture, mechanical drawing, and art, acts as freshman co-ordinator and director of the senior class play. Sister has many outside interests, her favorite being art.

Sister M. Evelyn, our biology instructor, is also sophomore coordinator and student trip advisor. Sister is a member of the State Committee of the Wisconsin Junior Academy of Science.

Miss MaeRose LaPointe, Math IV and geometry instructor, is also in charge of the cheerleaders, the Math Club, and the junior-senior party. When time permits, Miss LaPointe enjoys bridge.

Sister M. Charlotte, our English III instructor, is interested in both drama and the activities of the Kennedy family.

Sister M. Faustine, English IV instructor, also is advisor to the RENARD staff. Parallel with her interest in English, her favorite pastime is reading.

THEIR HOPE . . .

TOMORROW'S FUTURE

Sister M. Lawrence, sociology and world geography instructor, is our senior co-ordinator and Sodality moderator. Sister is interested in nature.

Mr. Robert Karisny, American history teacher, serves as our athletic director and coaches basketball and baseball. When not involved with teaching or coaching, Mr. Karisny also enjoys participating in sports.

Mrs. Karen Garl, English II and IV instructor, acknowledges her chief interest is sports cars.

Sister M. Verena, physics and Algebra I instructor, is moderator of the Advanced Science Club and the Student Council and advisor for the projectionists. As a hobby, Sister likes working crossword puzzles.

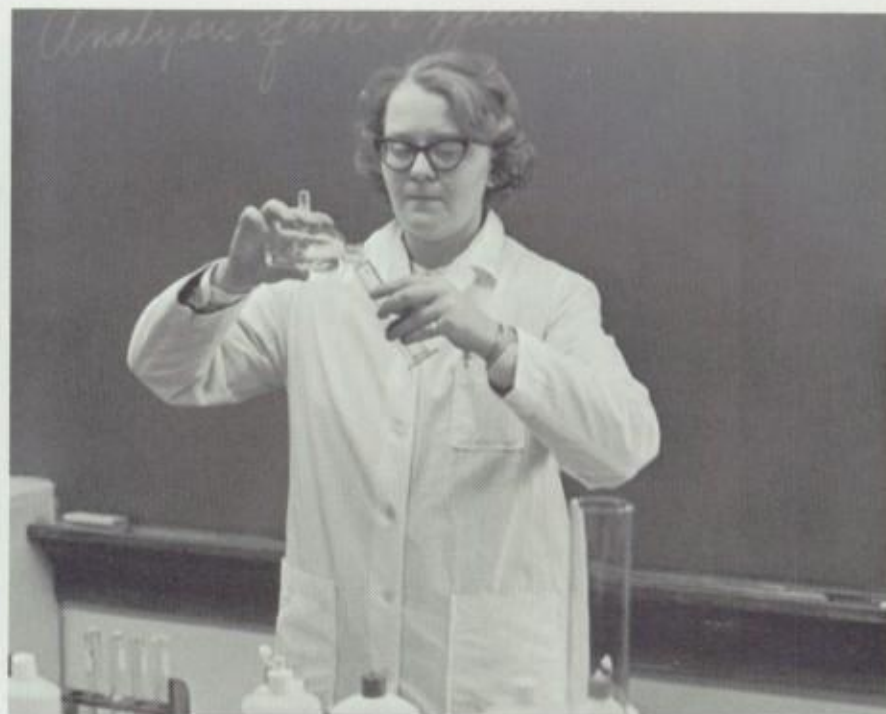

Blessings
on your future
S. M. Janet

Sister M. Janet, Math I and III instructor, also serves as junior co-ordinator and moderator of the National Honor Society. In her spare time, she likes classical music.

Mrs. Frances Hinterthuer, our part-time Typing I and general business teacher, is interested in bridge and the piano.

Miss Janet Kenter, who teaches chemistry and earth science, moderates the Future Teachers' Club. Since Miss Kentner owns her own canoe, canoeing occupies much of her free time.

Mr. Ellis

Mr. Gary Ellis, world history and world affairs teacher, is as fascinated by pop music as he is by politics.

Mrs. Janet Schalk, English I and III instructor, in private life finds pleasure in music, golf, and bridge.

Office Receptionist: Mrs. Carol Motto

Mr. Russell Gilligan, when not directing the St. Mary Band, giving private lessons, or playing the organ for some church function, takes pleasure in bowling or fishing.

Kitchen Staff: Mmes. Clara Vosters, Leo Mader, Edward Smarzinski, Eleanor Buechle, and Robert Kettenhoven.

Janitors: Mr. Richard Coopman and Mr. Edward Schumacher.

Mr. Giles Clark, guidance counselor and American history teacher, also coaches the golf team and is advisor to the Ski Club. In his spare time, Mr. Clark plays the guitar.

Sister M. Mechtilde, Algebra I, geometry and Religion II instructor, moderates the Health Careers Club. Sister's hobby is knitting.

Miss Rosemary Trettin, speech and English III teacher, director of the Christmas program, the sophomore-senior breakfast, forensics, and publicity, is also the WCOF diocesan secretary.

Sister M. Rosarita, English I instructor and choral director, is advisor to the CSMC. Sister's outside interest is crocheting.

Hope to have good in English and a couple more classes next year. Mary Miss Arlene Smith, a newcomer to St. Mary, teaches French I and II. Along with her interest in French, she is fascinated by art.

Sister M. Adelle, St. Mary librarian, is in charge of the Library Club. In her spare time, Sister enjoys textile painting.

STUDIES

LAYING PLANS DEFINING GOALS

Christopher Klein and Mary Sommerhalder discover that choice of colleges is a mutual problem.

At St. Mary, our entire day centers around Christ and His Church. Only with a vital knowledge of God are we able to perfect ourselves and fulfill our purpose in life. With this in mind, the administration has set up a complete religious program, based on the changes introduced by the Vatican Council. It combines modern trends with fundamental principles. Since these principles are based on God's word, the lower classmen take a deeper look at the Bible to obtain a clearer understanding and more ardent love for Christ. The juniors apply these lessons to the problems which confront every teenager. Through weekly talks to the seniors, the laity present their views on the Church in their daily lives. These talks broaden their knowledge and understanding of the changing role of the lay apostle. To help us choose our vocation, Father John Dewane and Mr. Giles Clark have set up a complete, modern guidance center. Private conferences, beginning with the freshman year, help lay plans and define goals enabling us to look forward to the future with unbounded enthusiasm and highest hopes for success.

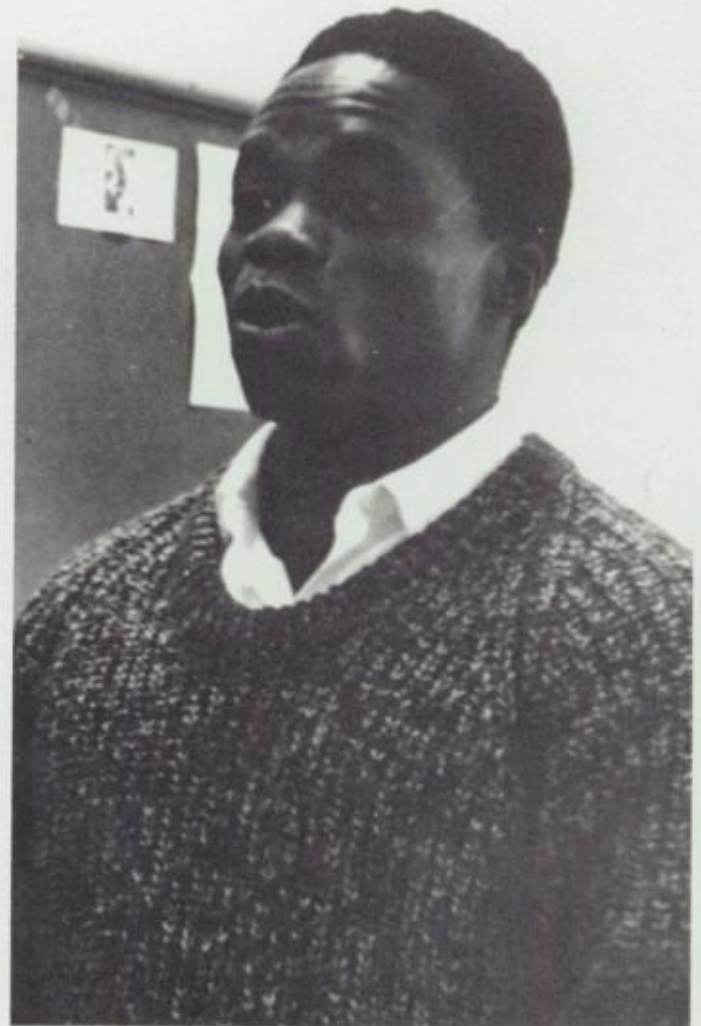

"It's as easy as do, re, mi," jokes Father Dewane to Dennis Schmidt and Joe Ciske as he directs them through another hymn.

Mrs. Lenz (Barbara Voss) and younger sister Linda agree that religion is a family affair.

James Guyette and Kathy McCormick discover exactly why the Bible is always a best-seller.

"Tomorrow the world will be yours. What will you do with it?" Ezekiel Akinbandi of Ibadan, Nigeria, challenges the seniors.

ENGLISH . . .

INTERPRETATION OF LIFE

Under the watchful eye of Mrs. Schalk, English I students Barb Koerner, Marge Mack, and Dave Mader discover that some stories are short in words but long on thoughts.

The reward of studying English is a constant deepening of experiences and a fuller understanding in the fields of grammar, speech, composition and appreciation of literature. Shakespeare has been chosen as one of the means of accomplishing this goal. Because Shakespeare has proved himself to be a great teacher of human nature by relating the commonplace problems of life, one of his plays is read every year by each of the English classes. Although the reading of literature is important, grammar is still essential in our everyday communications. Applied grammatical principles aid the student to express himself clearly and concisely. Students realize that they must strive to perfect these means of communication through comprehensive study of all the aspects included in the St. Mary English courses.

"From a small acorn, a mighty 'nut' doth grow," warns English II Student Craig Derfus to Mary Stilp and Janice Schraufnagel, as they examine short story interpretations.

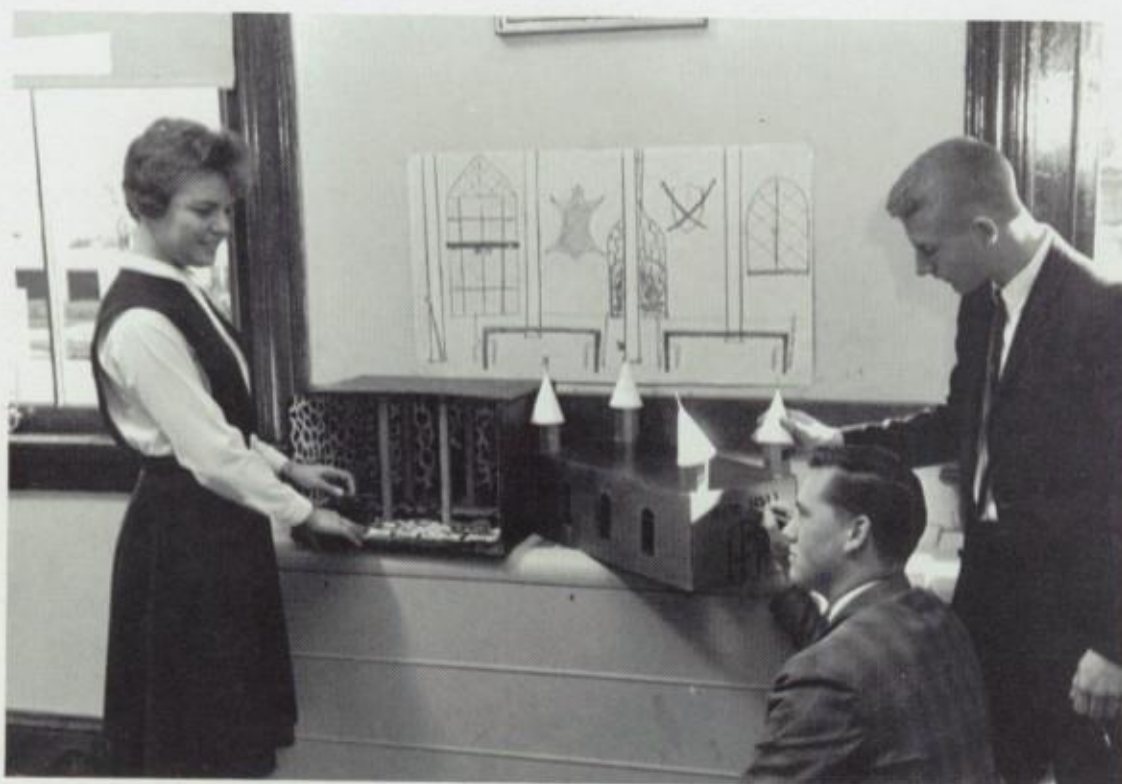

"You can't tell the worth of a book by its price," agree Patricia Connor and Sharon Thiel, supervisors of the paperback book project.

English IV student Raymond Heiting's literary criticisms aren't getting the attention they deserve from Lynn Dumke.

"Creativity is the sure sign of a genius," brags English IV student Linda Kraus to Francis Van De Hey and Thomas Pawlowski.

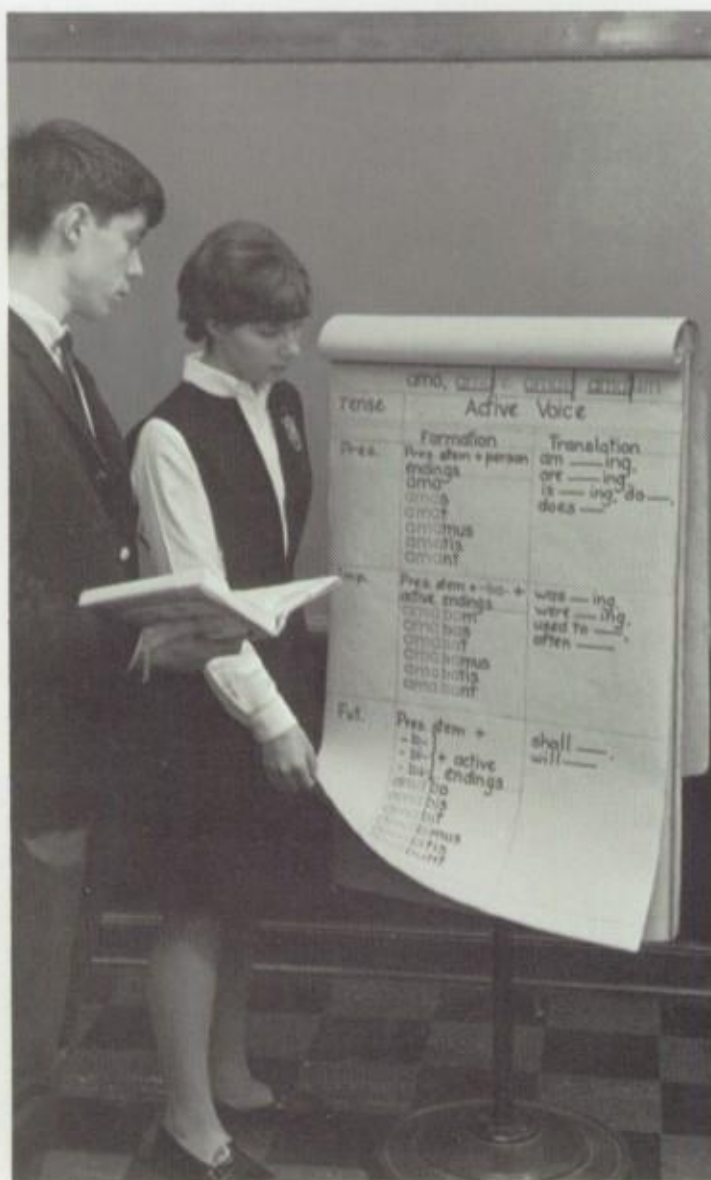

"Your name is Renard?" queries French student June O'Connell of Daniel Fox.

Miss Smith's humorous account of her "journey a' Paris" is reflected in the face of French II student Alan Mader.

Miss Smith

By combining their efforts, Latin students Mark Bunker and Christine Ciske hope that the answer will appear somewhere.

FRENCH . . .

A LINK WITH THE FUTURE

LATIN . . .

A LINK WITH THE PAST

Under the guidance of Miss Smith, made-moiselles and monsieurs live in the realm of "Gaie Paris". They enlarge their knowledge of the language while increasing their understanding of the people. Each student soon masters the technique of the language with the right accents hopefully on the right syllables. Records become a helpful guide to, as well as an entertaining source of the pronunciation of the French terms. St. Mary does not only concentrate on the present but also reflects the past. Students can relive the splendor that was once Rome's through Mr. Sledz's Latin class. Students recall the days of Caesar in their understanding and use of the language. Both of these subjects link the past and the present with the future.

Discovering the intricacies of the proper use of the telephone is a serious yet interesting feature of the speech class for Steve Srubas, Margie Muntner, and Bonnie Britzke.

SPEECH . . .

CONVEYING TRUE PERSONALITIES

Speech helps our students convey their true personality and feelings in a precise, orderly fashion. The Speech Department at St. Mary gives students excellent chances to study projection, hand and eye movement, and audience reaction. These are only some of the ways in which students can better their speech habits and gain self-confidence. Public speaking deals with those students who have perfected their speech abilities and are now striving for perfection in such facets as prose and poetry reading, debate, oratory, public address, and a new feature, choral speaking. The Speech Department, through these programs, encourages competition among students thus stimulating their interest in themselves, the community, and the world.

Expression reflects his determination as Tom Jape tries to convince his audience that "It's not what you say but how you say it."

World geography students agree that a smile is worth a thousand words.

HISTORY . . .

NEW DIMENSIONS OF THE PAST

World history student Mary Wirth finds that though her notes are not needed, they certainly build confidence.

"Always watch the fine print," American history student Tom Wroblewski warns Don Becker.

The history courses at St. Mary have taken on new dimensions. Not only do the students study and explore the past; they also discuss the present situations and their effects on the future. World history students relive the days when "the glory that was Greece and the grandeur that was Rome" flourished. They tour the majestic castles of the medieval kings and observe the budding of the period when knighthood was in flower. American history students, nearer in time and in more familiar surroundings, link America's accidental discovery by Columbus, its courageous beginnings with Washington, and its rise to a world power under Wilson, Roosevelt, and Eisenhower. The latest addition to the history department, world affairs, adopts the theme that today's news is tomorrow's history. Students apply this to their critical analysis of the present world situation. Sociology awakens the students to their rights and duties, not only as citizens of the United States, but also as children of God.

Betty Herres' talk on her homeland of Haiti arouses the wonder, amusement, and interest of Christopher Klein, David Mix, and Tom Godhardt.

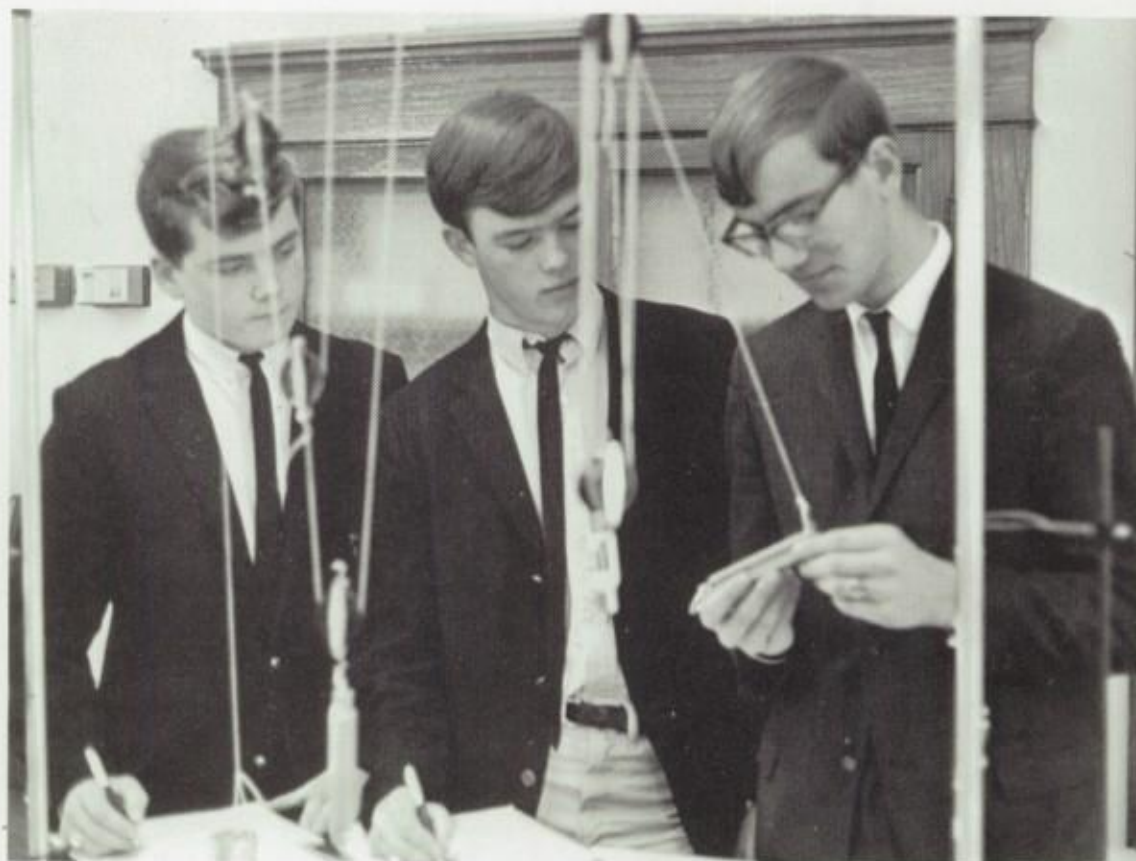

Noreen Kaiser, Ken Fritsch, and Mike Gage remain calm, though caught up in a "world-wind" of affairs.

SCIENCE . . .

A CHALLENGE

WITH A FUTURE

"A little ingenuity saves a lot of work," comments William Green to fellow physics students Mike Thelen and David Lloyd.

Protein builds muscle, reflects John Wainscott as he feeds his alligator George the necessary amino acids.

The science courses at St. Mary were not new courses, but they did hold an ever-changing treasure of knowledge—knowledge for the future. Chemistry classes at St. Mary took on a new look this year and provided an awarding challenge to the students. Experimentation became the new approach to broaden the students' knowledge of chemical application. Although textbooks were a basis for study, students found that chemistry became a reality within the laboratory. Biology is always a new and rewarding experience for any sophomore. It was a time when many complex questions were answered through the fascinating world of the microscope. Earth science had a vast source of knowledge and interest for students who wanted to probe into the earth's mysteries. An earth science course could never be the same year after year, for each year students have the opportunity to explore the new wonders discovered about the earth. In our space age, physics became a new and ever-advancing aid through its practical application to our modern, changing world. Physics classes held a new outlook on the scientific advances of our age and the ages before us. Science meant more than an abstract idea of the past to St. Mary students. It became a challenge with a future.

Earth science students Betty Adamietz and Bonnie Winz feel too close for comfort, as Jean Verbrick ignites their model volcano.

Dan Garrigan, Lenore Kolbe, and Becky Sewall realize that chemical titrations require exact measurement and constant observation.

"What a difference a day makes," exclaims Steve Griesbach to Geralyn Engel as they examine the results of Pasteur's experiment.

"I certainly hope it isn't as hard as it looks," explains Math I student Lawrence Klein to Dennis Wood.

MATH . . .

ANALYTICAL MINDS, ABSTRACT THOUGHTS

"There are times when minds can't match machines," quips Marie Dachelet to John Vander Heyden.

"This is worse than a Chinese cross-word puzzle," mutters David Zettel to Mark Pozolinski, as Nancy Cera apparently agrees.

Math IV students Tom Miller and Peter Clark find picture-taking more interesting than Mike Shulfer's problem solving.

Miss LaPointe and calculus student Liz Swiontek, a participant in the advanced placement program, agree that quality instead of quantity leads to classroom success.

Modern books, pamphlets, and mechanisms all shed light on the complex study of mathematics. As freshmen, we are transported from the principles of grade school arithmetic to the abstractions of higher math. Though the basic principles remain the same, we enlarge our vocabulary with numerous terms and procedures that would challenge any young Einstein. With this basis in algebra, we graduate to modern geometry, which gives us a fresh look at the three-dimensional world inhabited by spheres, cubes, and prisms. With this foundation, the juniors build and increase their analytical abilities through the study of progressions, logarithms, quadratic equations, and various complex operations. In trigonometry, the seniors review the work of their last three years and preview the complex world of college math.

Typing II student Janet Schmitzer knows that in a timing one's never saved by the bell, and Bill Beisenstein is no exception.

BUSINESS . . .

SPRINGBOARD TO THE CLERICAL OFFICE

Patty Harold, Mary Kampo, and Sandy Porsche demonstrate the many positions that a secretary often assumes in the business world.

General business student Dick Larsen finds that it's easier to check the balance than to balance the checks.

Bookkeeping students Kay Daigle, Sharon Fredericks and Rick Jungen find that adding columns is a "totally" new experience.

Each year the competitive business world presents a greater challenge to our graduates. Here at St. Mary, the students in the commercial courses are prepared to meet these challenges with a self-assurance enabling them to succeed. General business previews all the aspects of business. It is the springboard to the more detailed courses, and it serves as a background for the complicated procedures concerned with insurance forms, semi-annual interest, and timetables. In office practice, future receptionists, file clerks, and private secretaries gain the necessary knowledge and experience with the various machines used in most offices. Tips on how to keep the boss happy, and hints on personal grooming are also explored. The primary skills of the typist are developed in Typing I classes; in Typing II classes these skills are built upon to insure a maximum of speed and a minimum of errors. Speed and the ability to get something readable down on paper is stressed in both shorthand classes. Transcription class gives the students a chance to translate their shorthand notes on the typewriter into neat, mailable letters, thus initiating them into the routine of daily office work. Bookkeeping affords the students enough practice in figuring columns, numbers, and ledgers so that they can balance the books instead of juggle them. With these courses mastered, the students can successfully enter into the field of good business.

Office practice student Gary Levandowski is the picture of the future junior executive.

Christine Harris decides that shorthand is not as easy as it looks, though Eileen Redfield would have us think so.

"The face is familiar, but I can't remember the name," muses sculpture student Sue Rueckl.

"Be careful! Don't point that torch at me!" exclaims Art II student George Birling to Kathy Weigman.

PERFECTION . . . THE ULTIMATE GOAL

The boundaries of an art classroom are limitless for Lee Pritzl, Marty Singer and Ken Reimer.

Perfection is the goal of every artist. Under the guidance of Sister Mary Regine, young "Picassos" and "DaVincis" turn out finished products, which vary from chalk drawings to wood carvings to delicate plaster figurines. All these require an artistic eye, a taste for color coordination, and most important, nimble, creative fingers. These qualities are all developed and perfected in Art I, Art II, and sculpture.

Industry, likewise, requires precise, imaginative people to help us keep abreast of modern trends. Mechanical drawing fulfills this demand by instructing the students in the solving of basic construction problems. With the cooperation of Menasha High, boys receive training in machine shop, which contributes to their understanding of the complex nature of our most modern mechanical wonders. This training assures them of success in the field of skilled labor.

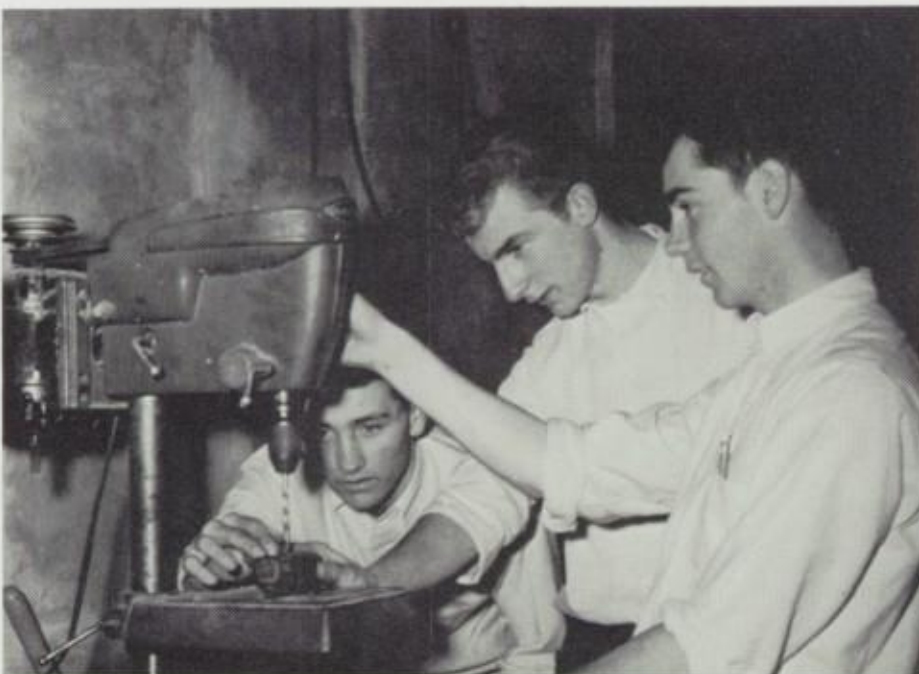

"Detail is the sign of a true craftsman," points out Greg Lauer to Francis Schneider, Lee Lehner, and Steve Noll, as they attempt to solve another mechanical drawing problem.

Mark Schierl and Steve Hanamann shed light on their Machine Shop 1 project.

Dan Schommer, Perry Ostorero, and Mike Stratton agree that machine drilling is more exacting than hand drilling.

STUDENT LIFE

PEACE . . .

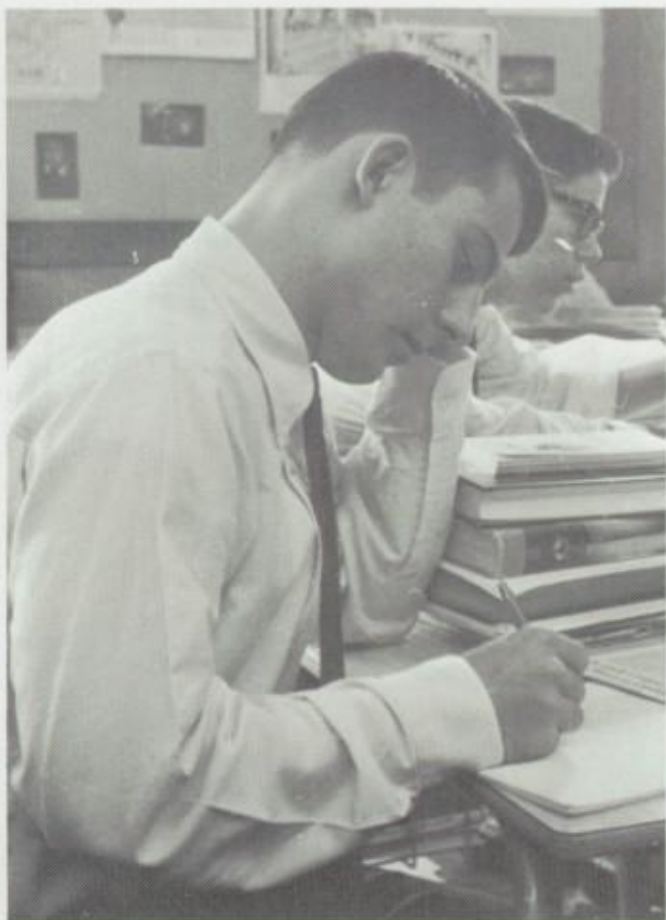

DEDICATION . . .

RELAXATION . . .

CONFUSION . . .

CONCENTRATION . . .

LOYALTY . . .

EXCITEMENT . . .

FRUSTRATION . . .

Through Father Stoegbauer the student body extends an enthusiastic welcome to Sister Vincetta.

Frosh Dave Kolasinsky appears to be a "ladies' man" as he carries the books of seniors Mary McCormick and Connie Raaen on Frosh Day.

The arrival of Sister Vincetta, principal, added boundless energy to the traditions of the initial weeks of school. The enthusiasm of the freshmen on Frosh Day and at the senior-sponsored Mixer extended itself to the Homecoming festivities. The spark and fire of competition ignited the 1965 Homecoming. In the production of a lively pep rally and a delightful dance, the members of the newly developed Student Council displayed their drive. The combination of this fresh vigor and the contagious spirit of the classes with that of the team created a powerful opponent for the Squires. Rivalry between classes in float competition and between teams in an exciting football game generated an electric unity of new and old. The air of the day seemed to forecast a victory, but the score failed to verify the prediction. In spite of the loss, the Zephyr spirit prevailed to make this an exuberant 1965 Homecoming.

The freshmen float seemed to be on the wrong track as it rode into fourth place in the Homecoming float competition.

Queen Cis Curtin and King Gary Roth eye their loyal subjects at the Frosh Mixer.

Sloopy's eyes shone in anticipation of a first place award for the spirited juniors.

The senior rabbit proudly proclaimed that the class of '66 was expecting a "Hare-Raising Victory."

Third place float honors for the sophomores made their "Honey of a Victory" turn bittersweet.

“CATCH A FALLING STAR”

All students donned their “specs” to get a better look at the exciting pep rally.

The spirit of the Bobsey Twins, Bob Heimerman and Tim Resch, as well as that of the entire Homecoming pep rally, proved to be too fast for the camera.

Bob Heimerman handles the “big dipper” for Tim Resch, Doris Nadolney, and Gerry Juneau at the Homecoming dance, “Catch a Falling Star.”

“THE OLD LADY SHOWS HER MEDALS”

THE CAST

Mrs. Dowey Helen Johnson
Private K. Dowey Dennis Schmidt
Mrs. Haggerty Johnette Gunderson
Mrs. Tully Barbara Stoegbauer
Mrs. Mickleham Patricia Weber
The Rev. Mr. Wilkinson John Kilsdonk

“Hairy legs!” exclaims Mrs. Dowey in admiration to a most bewildered Private Kenneth Dowey.

Mrs. Dowey strokes Kenneth's hair as he asks the old woman to be his mother.

“This war has wakened me up, Amelia, to an understanding of myself that is truly astonishing,” Mrs. Tully emphatically explains to Mrs. Mickleham and Mrs. Haggerty.

"A MAJORITY OF ONE"

Suzi Marx and Tom Miller, Japanese servants, dutifully prepare Mr. Asano's house for Mrs. Jacoby's visit.

"You couldn't be that stupid!" retorts Jerry (Jerry Mielke) when Alice (Carol Merbs) refuses to see his implication about her mother's effect on his conference.

"Remember what you said? Because if you don't remember, I remember. You said, 'If you want to stop prejudice, you've got to stop it in yourself.' You forgot it?" In these lines, Mrs. Jacoby revealed her changed attitude toward the Japanese. Her prejudice was dispelled when she fully understood her adversary. Thus, the uncovering of their mutual experiences united two people from opposite worlds in a lasting friendship. The Class of '66, under the direction of Sister M. Regine, presented Leonard Spigelgass's Majority of One on April 22, 23, and 24.

"I have some Smith Brothers Cough Drops. Good for coughing." Mrs. Jacoby's prejudice breaks down as she becomes concerned with Mr. Asano's discomfort.

THE CAST

Mrs. Rubin Ginny Graves
 Mrs. Jacoby Mary Curtin
 Alice Black Carol Merbs
 Jerome Black Jerry Mielke
 Koichi Asano Tom Dachelet
 Eddie Bill Beisenstein
 House Boy Tom Miller
 Tateshi Mary Galassie
 Ayako Asano Elisabeth Herres
 Noketi Suzi Marx
 Captain Norcross Gary Roth

While Tateshi serves a cup of tea, Koichi Asano engages Mrs. Jacoby in stimulating conversation.

Mrs. Rubin (Ginny Graves), anxious to dispel her friend's doubts on remarriage, reminds her, "I've got to catch him first!"

"I quit. I leave. I go to Canadian Embassy." Eddie (Bill Beisenstein) explodes when questioned by Captain Norcross (Gary Roth) about Mrs. Jacoby's mysterious disappearance.

The Christmas anthems of the angels echo through the mountains of the tiny South Sea isle.

"No more bad—only good—quiet here—to please the little babe," Rosita promises.

Sister Christine and Flora prepare the babe for the islanders' Christmas Eve Nativity tableau.

"A TIME FOR LOVE"

"A Time for Love," the 1965 Christmas presentation, proved a real challenge in depth to all the young actors involved since it, in reality, was a play within a play. The production revolved about a Pacific island's presentation of the Christmas story. The backdrop, a South Sea isle and its many inhabitants, incorporated the true message of Christmas—Christmas is "a time for love." Such striking scenes as the tableau of the Nativity presented the theme so vividly that surely it kindled a flame of the Christmas spirit in all who saw it. Through the magnificent portrayal of each character, this play was another memorable event in the student life of 1965.

THE CAST

Watching as the roses are presented to director Miss Trettin by Bob Heimerman are Nancy Smarzinski, Mary Ellyn Asmuth, and Peg Ciske.

"Let every heart keep Christmas tonight!" exclaims the blind girl, Hyacinth, as her fingers begin to unfold the Christmas story.

The Christmas tableau becomes a reality as the islanders bring to life the Christmas story.

DEVELOPMENT

OF THE WHOLE MAN

Active participation in St. Mary's many clubs and activities steadily contributed to personal development. Opportunities for student leadership were an important preparation for the effective handling of adult responsibilities. Through common experiences with his peers, the student shared empathy with others. An insight into human nature and a spirit of cooperation developed personal poise. The seeds of maturity implanted by these club activities formed a basis for future Christian living.

How many students knew about St. Mary's Pool Team? Mike Ciske took the cue from Dave Lloyd at the first pool match.

Mr. Rueckl prepared his equipment for the hectic schedule awaiting him on RENARD picture day.

Senior boys John Kosiorek, Gary Roth, and Tom Grade lightly satirized haircuts in front of the barber shop.

By winning first place in the Knights of Columbus debating tournament, St. Mary's debaters Jack Carew, Gary Britzke, Bob Heimerman, Mary Ellyn Asmuth, and Mary Pfrang showed outstanding extemporaneous ability.

YOUTH SPEAKS OUT

Saint Mary's Speech Department, in an unprecedented display of vocal ability, made a mark in state-wide debate and forensic competition. In addition to winning the Catholic Conference trophy, the debate team, flashing a 25—11 record, qualified for the state finals held in Madison, February 26-27. This was the first team in Saint Mary's short debate history that traveled so far in competition.

The forensic team set out to excel their state record of eight gold medals, the second highest rating in the state. Veteran rank members were joined by freshmen and sophomore speakers who shared in the efforts and success of another record-breaking season.

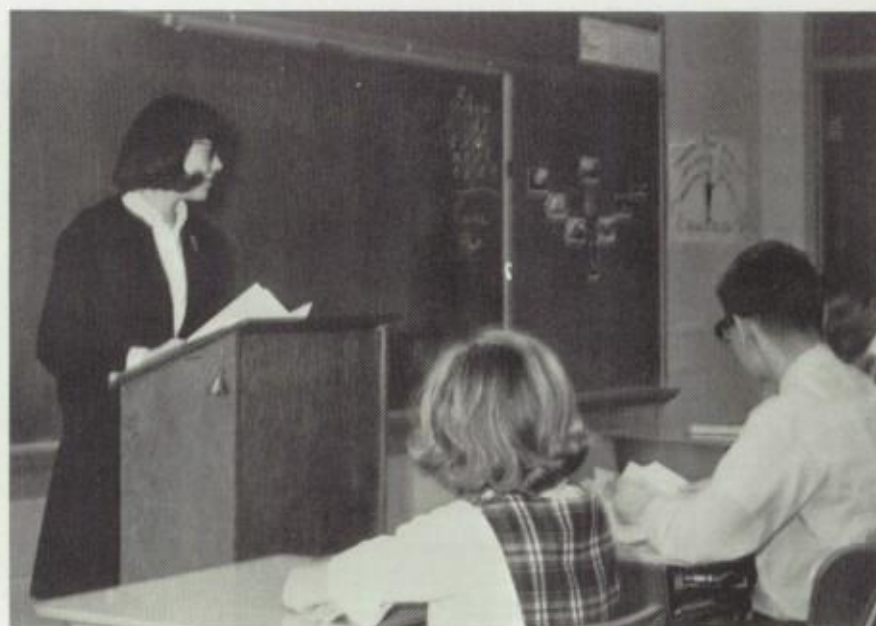

Winning a degree of excellence in the National Forensics Honor Society, Jack Carew, Mary Pfrang, Mary Ellyn Asmuth, and Bob Heimerman received degrees of honor.

With his summary of world problems, debater Gary Britzke captured the audience at an inter-school meet.

LEADERSHIP THROUGH ACTIVITY

As many of other Future Teachers Club members did, M. Ryan gained experience by teaching in the grade school.

Cooperation and discussion were major factors for meeting RENARD deadlines.

At their Sunday night meetings the members of the Student Council planned school activities.

Ski Club member Connie Raaen relaxed on a skiing trip at Calumet Park.

At the FTA tea, Miss Kentner related her interesting experiences in teaching to Future Teacher Club members, Mary Bruehl and Debbie Kolasinsky.

SOCIAL RECREATION

To the Puritans, some of our popular gyrations at the Thanksgiving Dance would have seemed stunning.

UNCHAINED MELODY

Mr. Gilligan, a University of Wisconsin alumnus, resumed his former position in the University Concert Band to play "On Wisconsin."

The student body was especially thrilled at the University of Wisconsin concert when Mr. Gilligan conducted the University band in the school song.

St. Mary seniors shared their Christmas spirit by caroling for the patients at Sunset Haven.

The annual Christmas Concert presented a lively Junior Band with "La Cucaracha."

On a field trip to Morgan School of Nursing, Health Careers Club members learned about helping the handicapped.

ORGANIZATIONS EXTEND KNOWLEDGE

Organizational activities at St. Mary High School broadened the knowledge gained in the classroom. Intellectual talents were developed when new abilities were awakened through the participation in these activities. As members of various organizations, students prepared themselves for successful careers. Membership in activities encouraged students to take a mature interest in their modern world. Thus, the members of St. Mary who were involved in extracurricular organizations learned to accept the intellectual challenges of the future.

Mrs. Crowell cheerfully encouraged HCC members to pursue humanitarian careers.

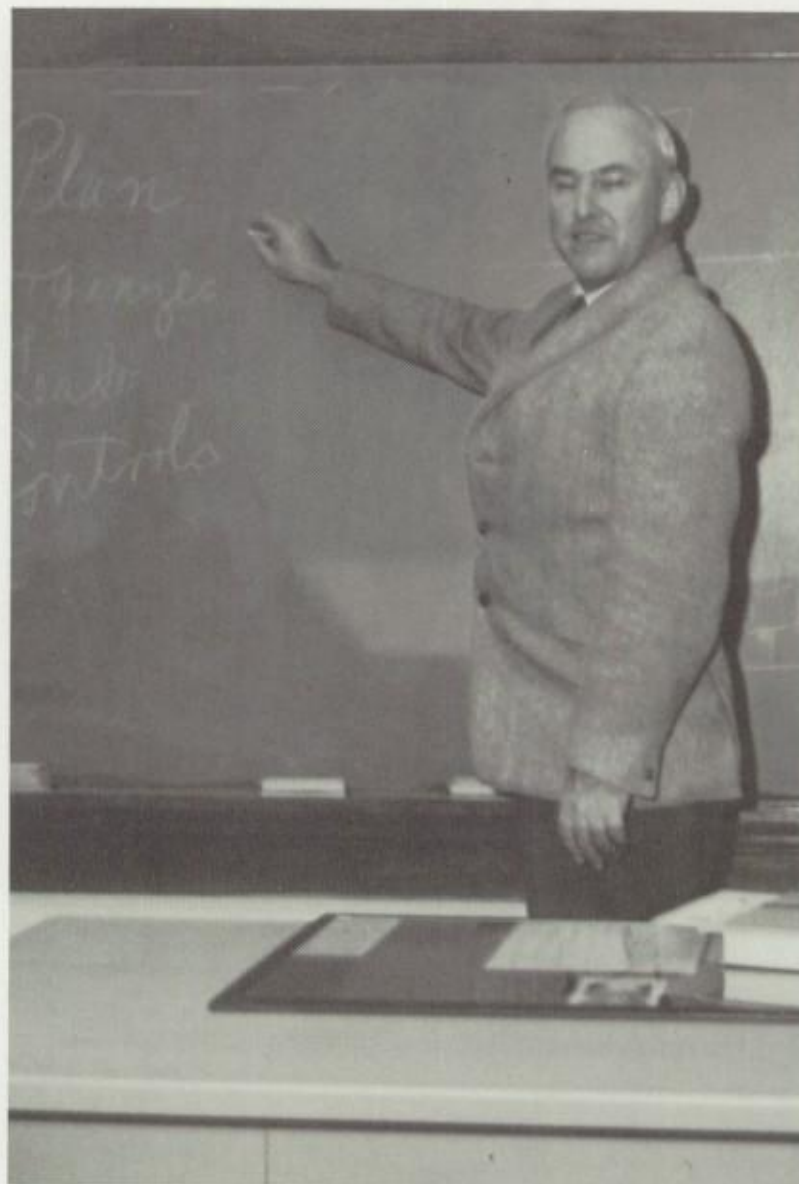

Marilyn Kolbe and Tim Sewall, seniors representing St. Mary High School, acquainted eighth-graders in the area with high school life.

CHALLENGES TO MEET

While Liz Swiontek demonstrates the use of a computer machine, Mickey Ryan gives additional directions and information.

Mr. Howe, representative of the Business Mailing Department, emphasized the four elements necessary for success in the business field.

At the World Affairs assembly Rudi Mueller and panelists pointed out the seriousness of the situation in South East Asia to the student body.

ENJOYMENT THROUGH LEARNING

Mr. Clark, guidance director, gives some sound advice to college bound senior, Mike Kufner, at the joint college night held at Xavier.

Sophomores Barb Grode, Sue Rankin, and Frances Graves await the arrival of the bus that is to take them and other biology students on the annual Chicago trip.

In conjunction with Pope Paul's historic visit to the U.N., all classrooms were provided with television sets by the Student Council.

HONOR AND INSPIRATION

"Act well your part, there all the honor lies." St. Mary High School completed another year of outstanding academic records and dynamic student leadership. Winning citations and trophies, the students brought not only honor to themselves and their school, but also inspiration to the underclassmen. Out of their undertakings emerged a strong sense of character, service, and responsibility. These qualities are requisites which complement the total development of student leaders. While students even now are enjoying the rewards of coordinating scholarships and leadership, they will continue to reap the ever mounting benefits from their disciplined training.

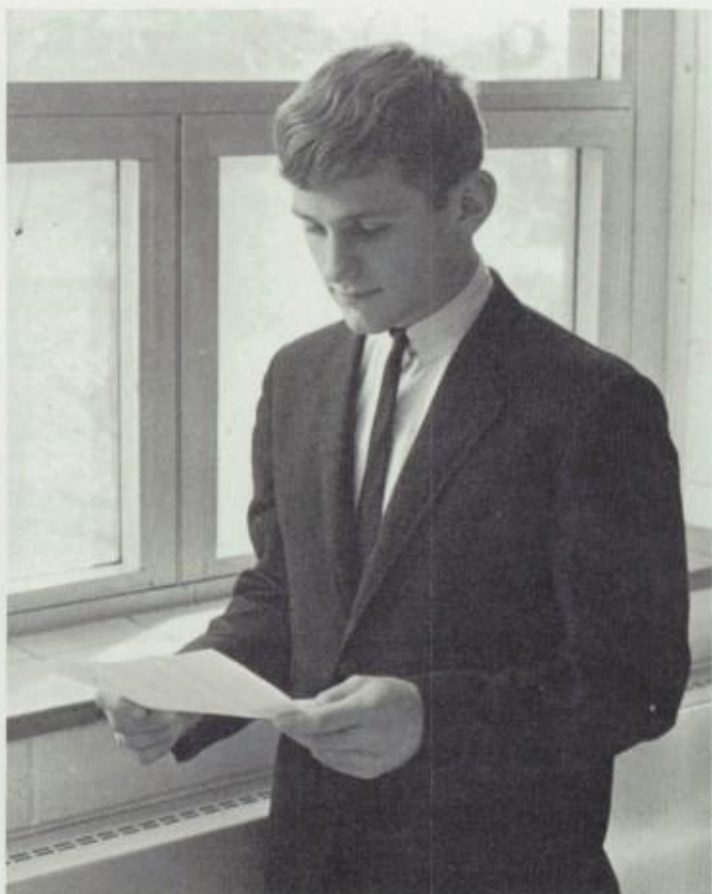

Sandy Sears, winner of the local Voice of Democracy contest, tapes her speech for higher competition.

Patty Weber, alternate, listens to Carol Buksyk reminisce about her experiences at Badger Girls' State.

Tim Sewall and Paul Hopfensperger seemed to enjoy the description of an eventful week at Badger Boys' State by Mike Kettenhofen and Bob Heimerman.

As a finalist in the National Merit Scholarship competition, Bob Heimerman proved that ability counts.

Mike Kettenhofen and Liz Swiontek admired the trophies they received as Jaycee Top Students for 1965.

SENIORS

ON THE MOVE

The grave of President Kennedy brought back memories of a man who serves as an example to all youth.

The changing of the guard at Arlington National Cemetery left us with a deeper appreciation of our country's heroes.

Friday, November 26, dawned rainy and dull, but our spirits couldn't be dampened by the weather. We were about to take off on a thrilling tour of Washington, D.C. and New York City. For most of us, our first plane ride brought few happy memories, but a jet to Washington, D. C. restored our self-confidence. After a few hours of rest we were off on a night tour of our capital and visits to the famous memorials to Jefferson and Lincoln. Our first day was over, and we collapsed on our beds exhausted. Six-thirty Saturday morning came much too soon, but we experienced an unexpected thrill later in the day—an anti-Vietnam demonstration of thousands at the White House and Washington Monument. Another high point of the day was a visit to Arlington National Cemetery and the grave of a great leader, President John F. Kennedy. The climax of the day was a view of our capital by night from the Washington Monument. Traveling to New York occupied most of Sunday, but the night was open for seats at Radio City Music Hall, where we saw a first-run movie and the famed Rockettes. After three days of riding and walking and continuous action, we were exhausted, but on we went. On Monday a bus tour of Upper and Lower Manhattan and a long hard climb up the Statue of Liberty were rewarding. Attendance at the Broadway play, Golden Boy, and a fruitless wait in the cold till twelve-thirty a.m. for Sammy Davis's autograph capped the day. Our tour was nearing an end, and on Tuesday, after a visit to the ice-covered peak of the Empire State Building and hours of shopping in New York's most famous department stores, we began our journey home. When we had to leave, our hearts are filled with memories of an experience we will long remember.

The glory of the Lincoln Memorial is surrounded by a beautiful view of the lights of Washington.

The Lincoln Memorial was another example of the historical men and events in our nation's history.

The Shrine of the Immaculate Conception in Washington D.C. stands as a symbol of Catholic expansion in the world.

The sloping lawn of Mount Vernon led us to a historic and pleasurable visit of George Washington's home.

The actual presence of anti-Vietnam demonstrators deepened our feelings of national loyalty previously unchallenged by mere news reports.

LIVING OUR FAITH

In the opening Mass of the school year, all student activities were presented to God during the offertory.

Mr. Asmuth, one of the senior religion speakers, who gave a layman's view of Christianity, talked on retreats.

At Saint Mary's religion permeated all aspects of student life. Practical religion was especially evident in student religious activities where Christian leadership qualities were ingrained into young personalities. Activated as a way of life rather than mere token worship, religion was expressed through religious organizations, student apostolates, prayer hours, retreats, and the community mass. The Sodality enthusiastically undertook new apostolates including their favorite project, Saint Joseph's Home for Children. Bible vigil was introduced this year, familiarizing students with Sacred Scripture. The Senior Schola was formally organized this year. This and the Community Mass participation complemented the new, revitalized, ecumenical liturgy. Senior religion classes were geared toward practical everyday religion. Speakers from various walks and stations of life spoke on matters of faith and morals that would present themselves in the future. In this way classes and activities contributed to the living faith, so much a part of the Saint Mary scene.

During January's interfaith meeting, Anna Marie Halaychik enjoyed exchanging religious views with St. Timothy's Reverend Peterson.

WANTED: ORIGINALITY

Eagerly Carol Buksyk and Marilyn Kolbe display their talents as hard-working RENARD editors.

The RENARD staff, fresh from summer vacation, was swiftly introduced to the hard work of the yearbook production. Since the '66 RENARD was coming out in the spring rather than the summer, as in the past year, the deadlines closed in fast. The first few weeks introduced the twenty-two staff members to the all-important decisions concerning theme, layouts, and cover. With basic plans completed, work was underway. This year the editors, Carol Buksyk and Marilyn Kolbe, guided their staff through the usual difficulties of copy, the cropping of photographs, and deadlines, and also the new problems which arose with each new idea. The new advisor, Sister M. Faustine, added her experience to the staff. With her guidance, the '66 RENARD began its road to success. Along with Sister this year came the introduction of sophomore members on the staff, the first year the underclassmen took part in yearbook production. As the book took shape, pictures were needed. Mr. Rueckl provided his professional experience on the annual RENARD photo day, while senior Tim Sewall supplied the staff with rare candid shots. To pay for the labors of the editorial staff, Mark Galloway and his business staff launched their energetic drive in the Fox Cities to solicit the necessary funds. Finally, the other staff members, the typists, completed the final forms which, in the spring, were sent back to St. Mary in the form of the '66 RENARD.

A CONFIDENT SMILE

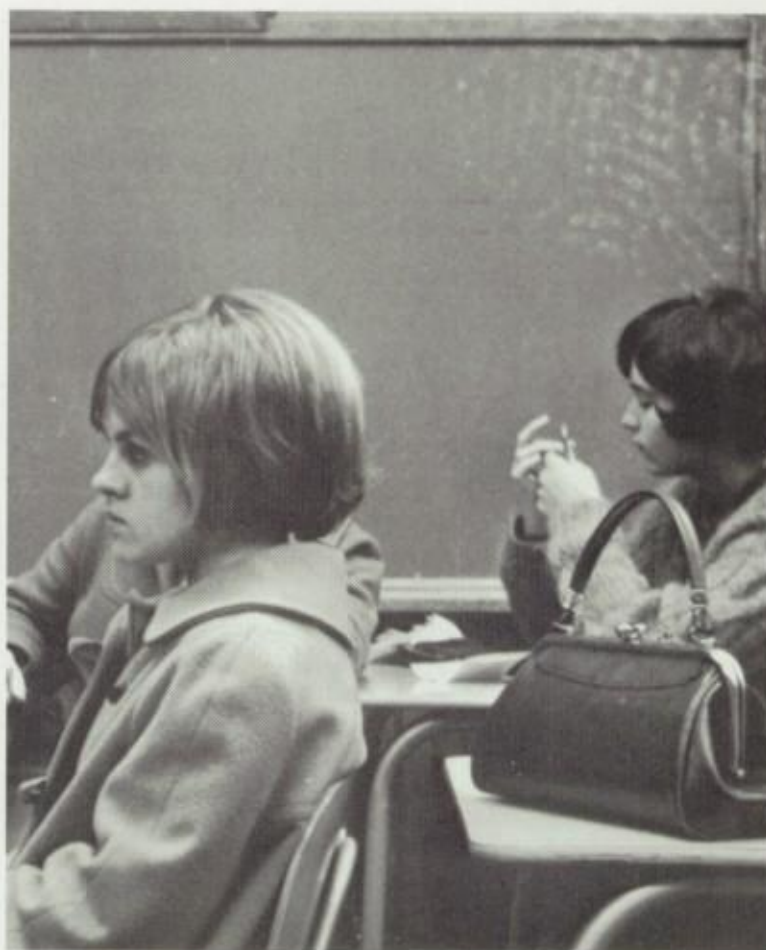

A step to the future was a challenge for St. Mary's students. Those students who met the challenge of scholastic aptitude, leadership throughout their classes, and service to the school were assured of enrollment into the National Honor Society. Outstanding clerical aptitude was the keynote for recognition in the National Business Honor Society. Each student's efforts had to be carefully weighed before admission was granted into either society. Aside from the daily polygons, formulas, and theorems, the Math Club presented the science of mathematics in a series of interesting talks and field trips. Students were shown new trends in modern equipment and were initiated into the principles of governing these machines. The Advanced Science Club met at weekly intervals with interesting topics, such as genetics, open-heart operations, and overseas job opportunities. Enrolled in one of these organizations, a student was a step closer to the image that he would attain in his future life.

NEW

AND

SPIRITED

Student Council officers, J. Carew and M. Kettenhofen, dedicate their time and effort even outside of regular class hours.

ORGANIZATIONS

The newest group and the one most appreciated by the whole student body this year was the Student Council. The student body had long awaited with eagerness and willingness the day when Father Stoegbauer would install Mike Kettenhofen as president, Helen Johnson as vice-president, Jack Carew as secretary, and Barb Derrick as treasurer. One of the first undertakings of the Student Council was the formation of the Student Council Constitution for the present and future students to follow and maintain. Another function of this group was the sponsoring of the traditional Frosh Mixer and Homecoming dances held in the gaily decorated gym. Among their various other activities was a trip to Green Lake on October 15 and 16. Our council was represented by Helen Johnson and Barb Derrick. Other projects were the Thanksgiving dance, "Plymouth Rock" on November 24, and the cleaning of the old kitchen and stage. So St. Mary's first Student Council was off to a good start.

THE SPIRIT

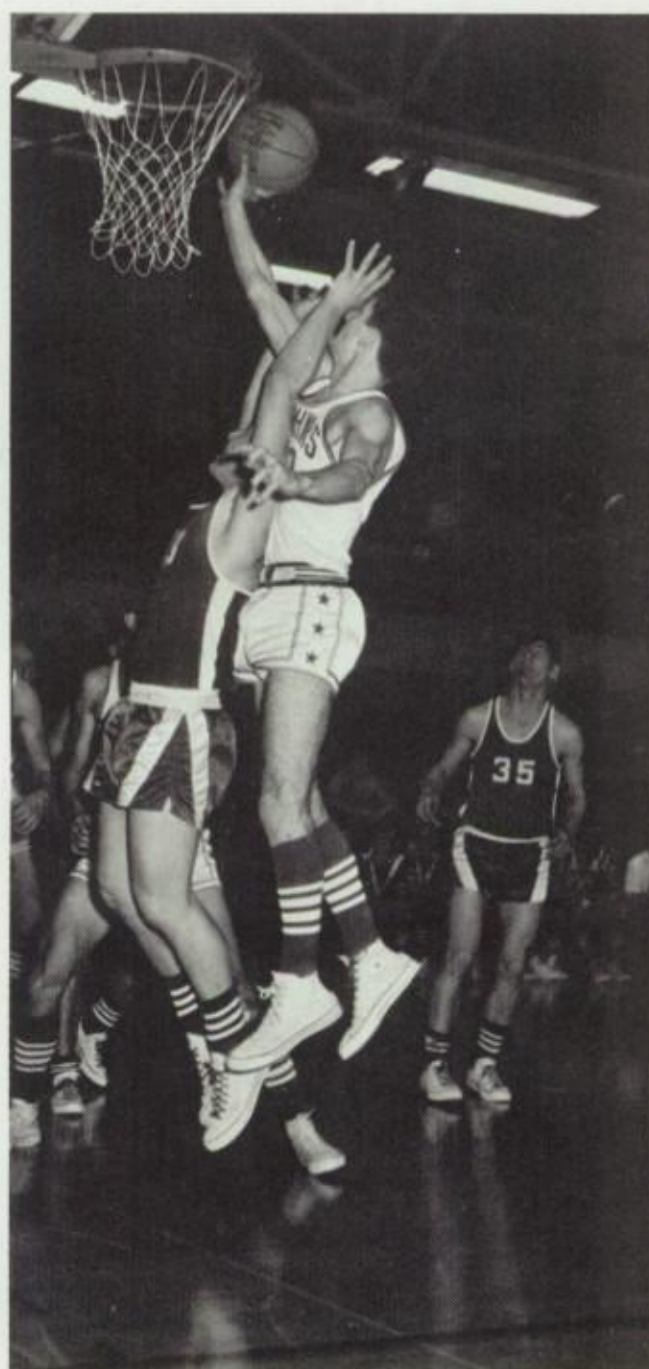

OF '66

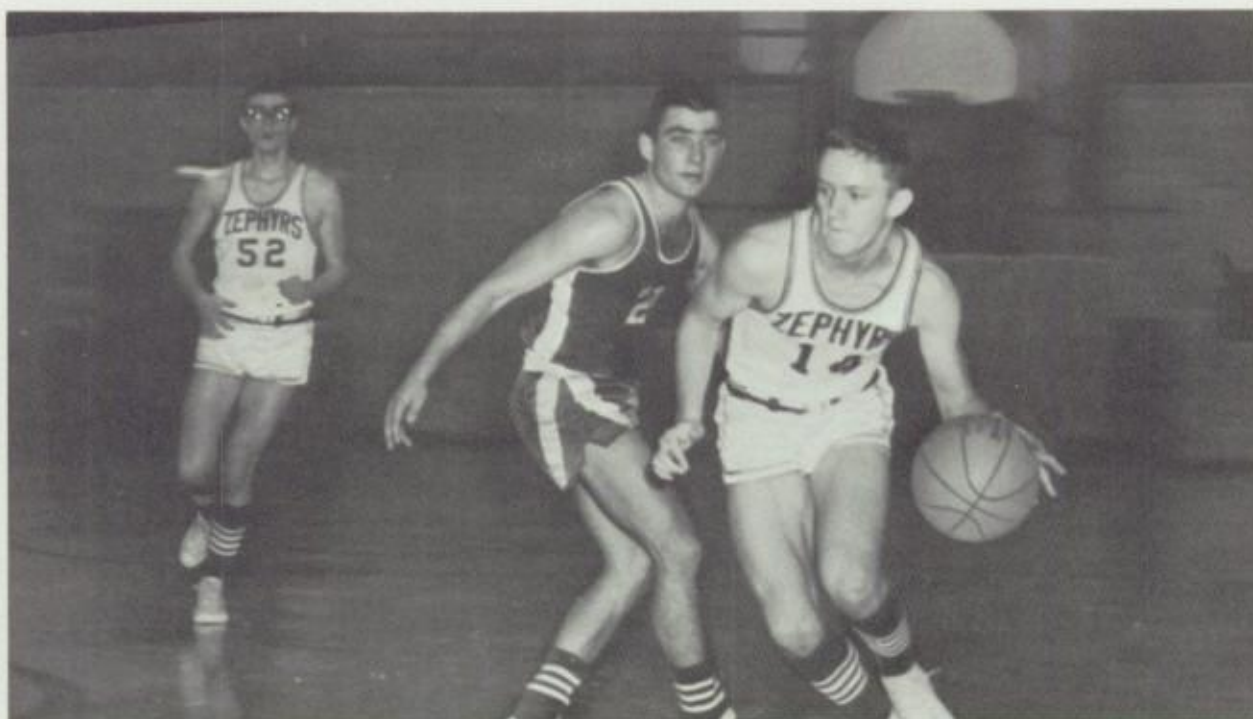

It looks like M. Kettenhofen is cheating by using four hands.

So you scored two points, Tom; you still have to play defense.

Despite foul play, Dave Koerner still manages an easy bucket.

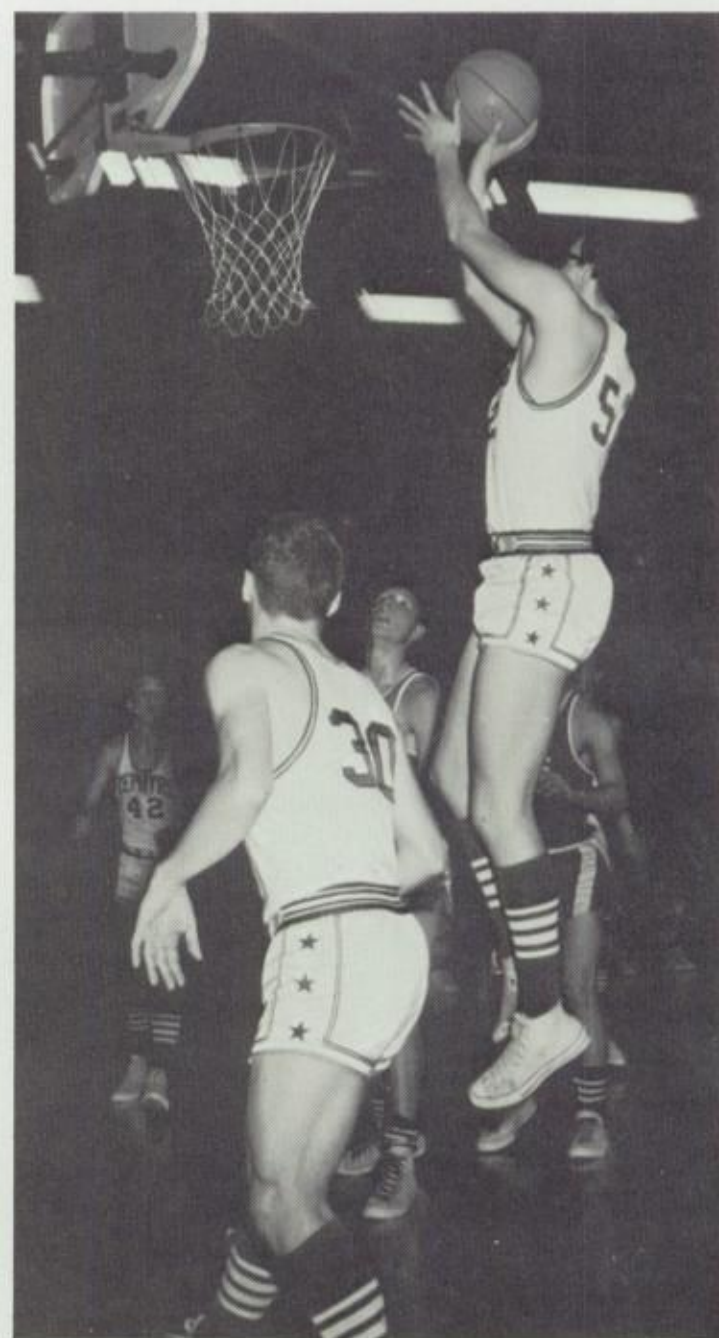

"Nothing to it, Mike," quips Greg Gill as Mike Heroux dribbles past a St. John defender.

G. Haldeman aims for two points as the Chuters try to block his shot.

Greg Gill leaps high above the court and easily notches two more points for the Zephyrs.

ACTION . . .

TEAMWORK . . .

VICTORY

As the Zephyrs rushed onto the floor, the pep band started the school song, opening another Zephyr basketball season. For the first time in several years, height was a decided advantage. With Mike Gage at 6'2", Greg Gill at 6'4", and Dave Koerner at 6', the Zephyrs successfully controlled the rebounds. Fine shooting and precise passing marked the team. Mike Kettenhofen, a fine defensive floorman, and Mike Heroux, an all-around player, rounded out the starting five. When help was needed, the team had fine backup men to adequately fill the starters' shoes. In John Kosiorek, the team found excellent rebounding and shooting ability. Although he was the smallest team member, Greg Haldeman exhibited the spirit and hustle of a seven-footer. Marc Haberman and Tom Wroblewski filled out the Zephyr contingent. Marc rebounded well while Tom displayed fine ball-handling ability. The 65—66 Zephyr cagers practiced teamwork and gave St. Mary students another season of exciting basketball.

Powerful Jimmy Jensen, star of the tough Zephyr offensive team, finds his hole in the line and runs for daylight.

The hard-nosed Zephyr line breaks the way for ball carrier Bob Heimerman and his blocker, Tim Resch.

The Pennings' coach gestures complete frustration as the Zephyrs deflect a pass intended for one of his players.

Visions of a touchdown race through a Zephyr's mind as he zeroes in on a pass from quarterback Mike Heroux.

ZEPHYR GRIDDERS ELUDE DEFEAT

Mix-up in the backfield? A Zephyr ball carrier plunges through the opposing line on his way to a badly needed first down.

When two hard-hitting Zephyr defenders knock loose a Pennings' fumble, Bill Heimerman quickly dashes in to recover the pigskin.

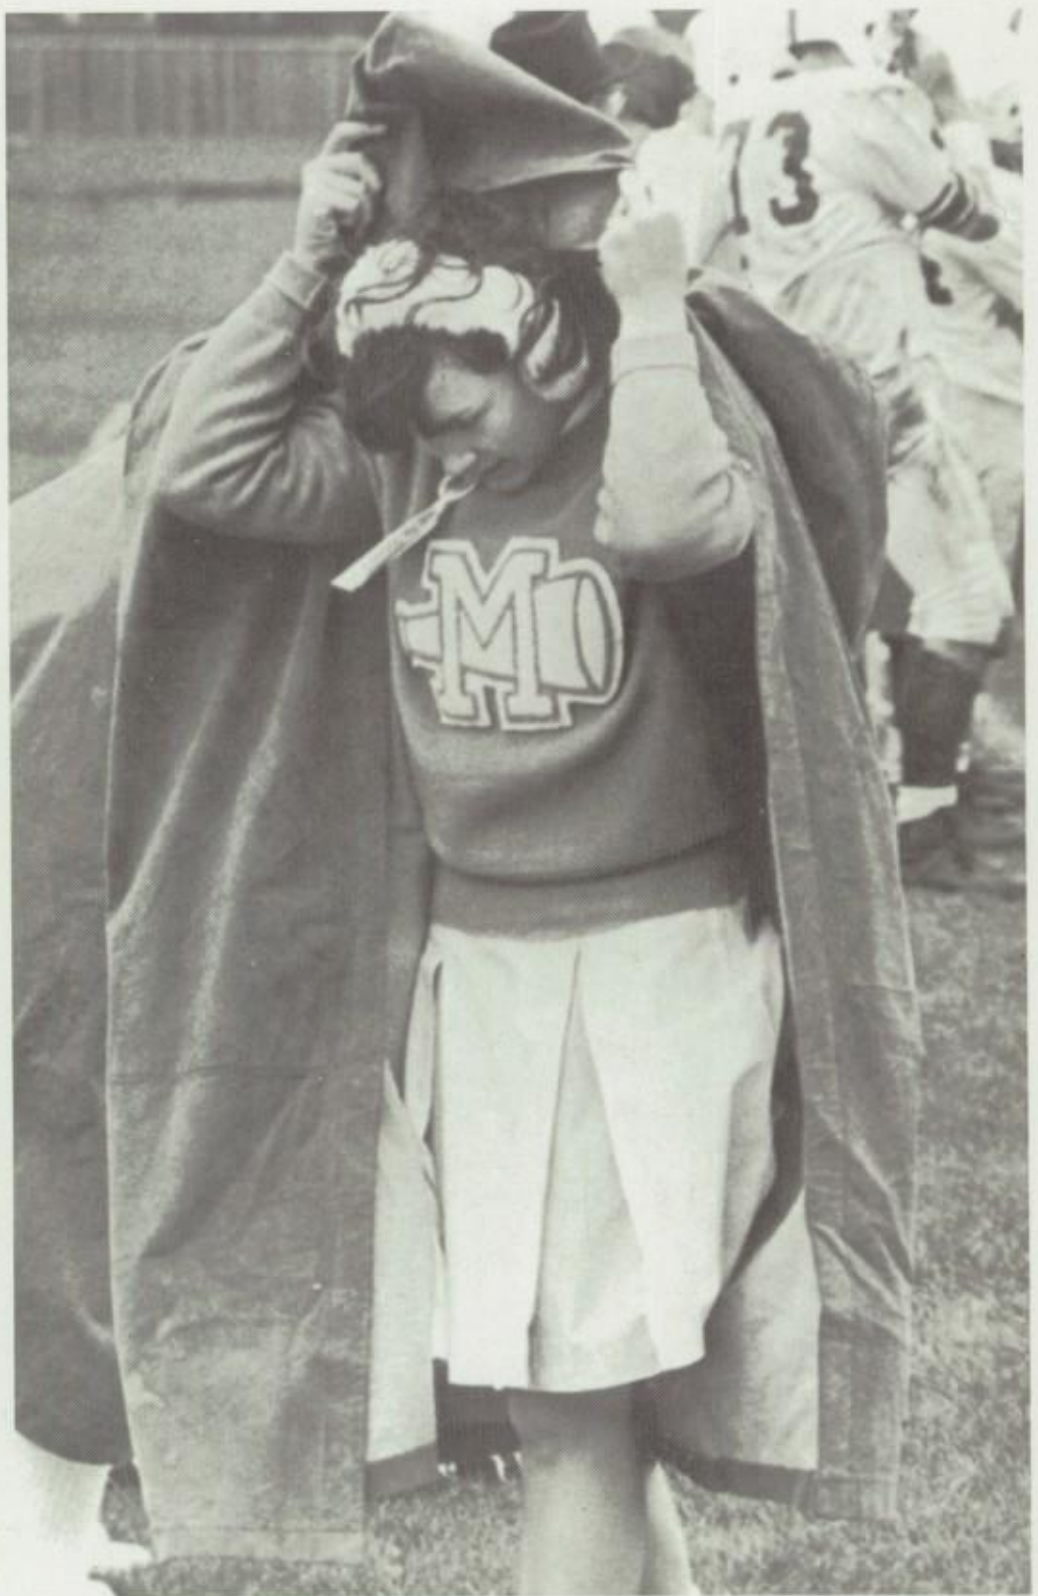

The Zephyr gridiron squad under the direction of their new coach, Clarence "Sonny" Lotzer, posted a 4—5 record for the '65 season. The Zephyrs featured a blazing defense capable of halting the hardest hitting teams. With Dennis Schmidt, tackle, and Mike Kettenhofen and Dick Hetzel, stalwarts defenses, the team was hailed as being the toughest in the Fox Valley Conference. Not to be outdone, the Zephyrs' offense starred Mike Heroux, top passer in the league, and Bob Heimerman, top pass receiver. Jim Jensen, a hard-running junior with illusive moves, plunged through the line on numerous occasions to strengthen the Zephyr ground game. Offensively, Mike Day and Bob Heimerman were selected as all-conference first team members. At the close of the season, Mike Heroux and Jim Jensen were chosen co-captains for the next year's football squad.

SUCCESS

St. Mary's version of Paul Revere, senior Dave Lloyd, peddles his own brand of spirit at the Xavier pep rally.

Neither rain nor snow nor loss of game could dampen the spirits of our dauntless cheerleader, Doris Nadolney.

Win or lose, the Zephyr fans never desert their team. Here cheerleaders, Janet Buelow and Gerry Juneau, lead a victory cheer.

Win, lose, or draw, the spirit of the Zephyr student body can never be equaled. At home as well as away games, the loyal Zephyr followers are always on hand to spur their team to victory. And cheer they do! The cheer of the Zephyr can be likened to the tumultuous roar of a Rose Bowl crowd. The renewal of the Spiritometer trophy added incentive to all classes to back their Zephyrs. Nothing can equal the excitement, spirit, and action of a high school athletic event at St. Mary.

THE ART OF LOVING

With a cheerfulness that characterize St. Mary's Sodality, four representatives leave for Sunset Haven with gifts and smiles for each patient.

"Pick up those blocks," points out Sodality babysitter Pat Weber to one of her young charges.

The beat seems to be the same, but the concentration is greater proves Margie Lenz.

Along with some fancy footwork came the unexpected "granny gowns" at the annual Sodality dance.

Since she had more tickets on CSMC Slave Day, Chris Gallo-way staunchly refused to carry Randy Michiels' books.

CSMC, SODALITY:

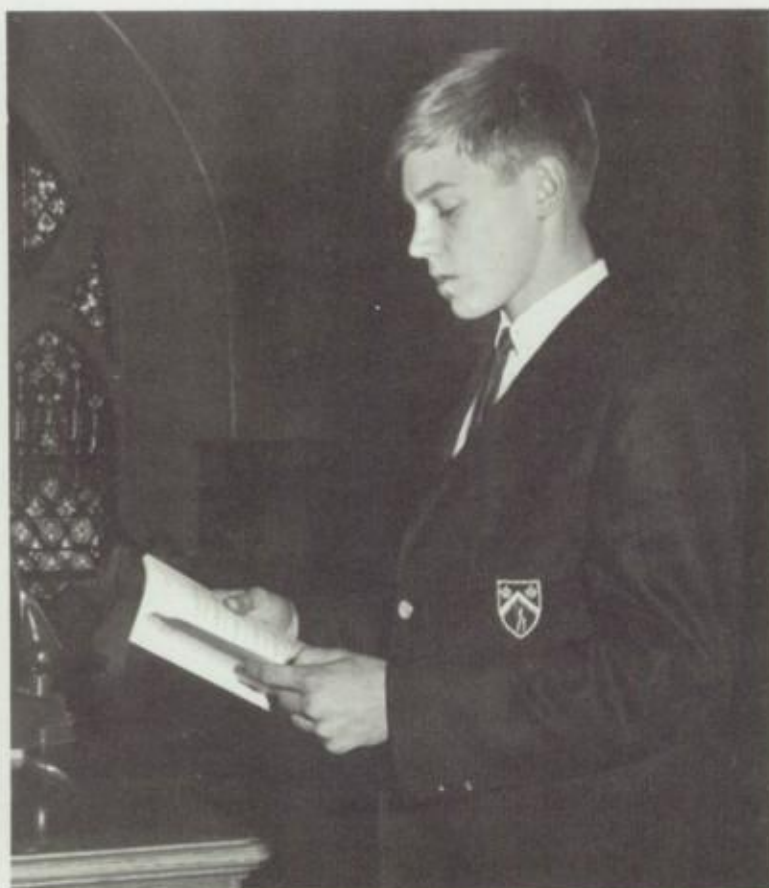

Like all the other girls, Linda Koerner cheerfully accepted the responsibilities of Slave Day from Phil Daniels.

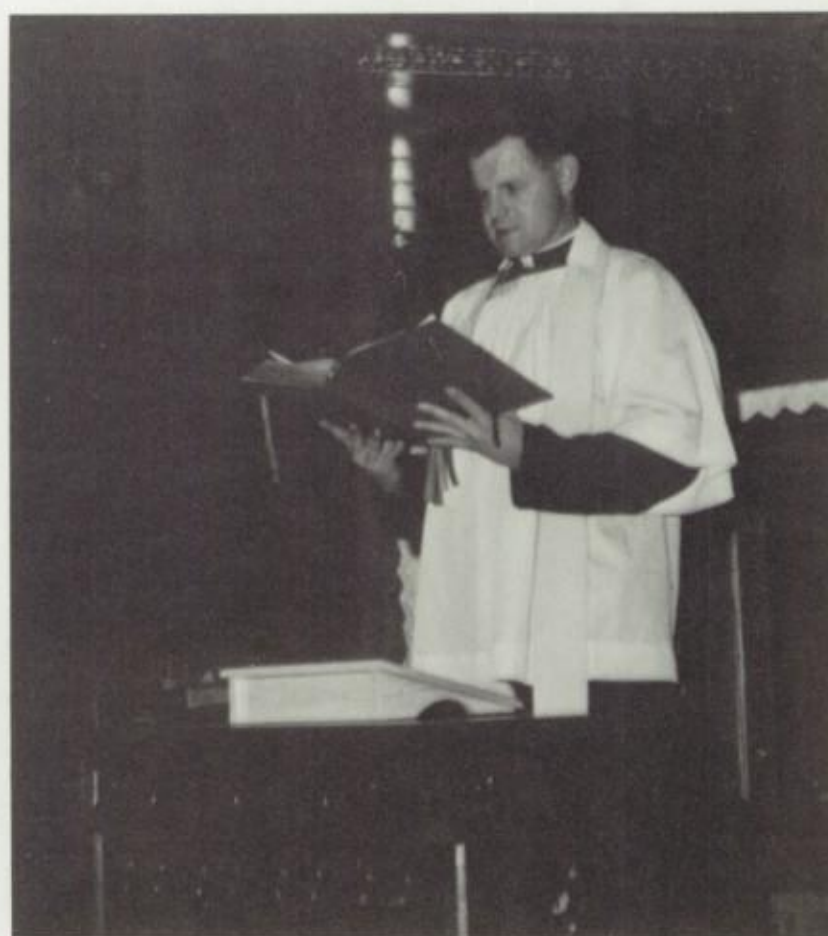

Bill Bryan and Stan Kiefer showed the true spirit of Thanksgiving by distributing the annual Thanksgiving baskets.

Happily Garnet Schuch and Darlene Dunn agreed that even walls and backs were suitable for CSMC Heart Day.

John Buhl, a member of the Senior Schola, leads the student body in singing the offertory hymn of the day.

Father Kiefer conducts the Bible vigil, a new practice that incorporated Sacred Scripture into students' religious background.

MODERN YOUTH . . . MODERN WORSHIP

The Communion hymn of Father River's Mass echoes throughout the entire church at the students' Thanksgiving Mass.

LOVE IN ACTION

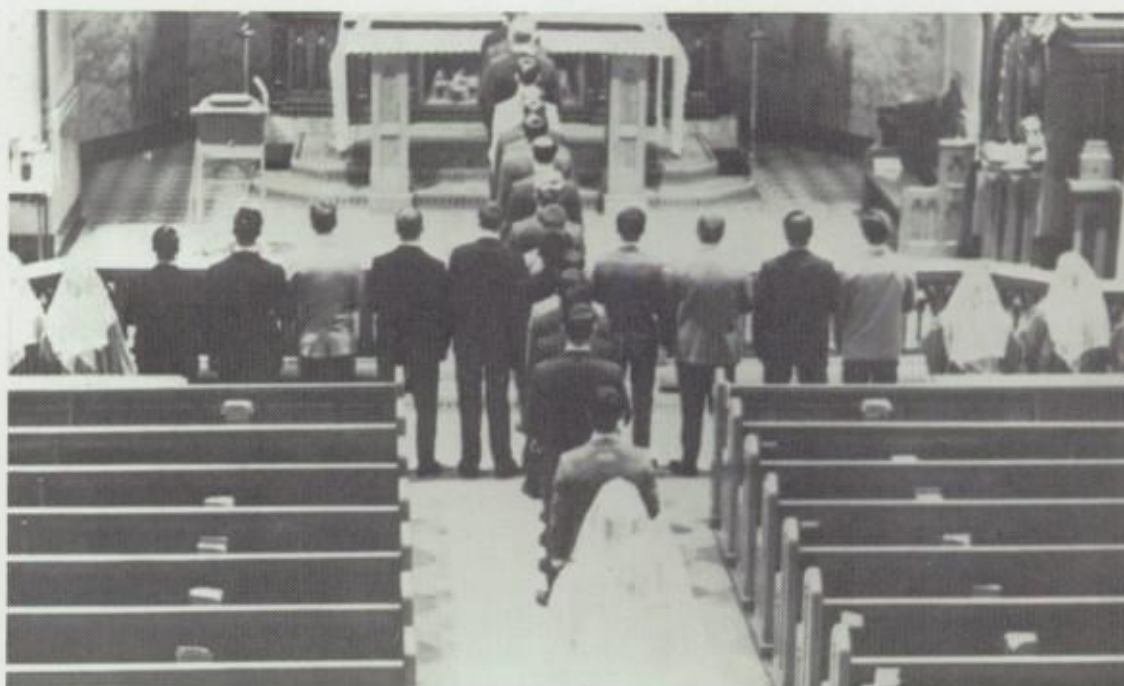

Heading the recessional, Marilyn Kolbe and Susan Tews led the seniors into action.

The upraised candles were visible evidence of strong faith and a ready loyalty to Mary.

The seniors demonstrated their devotion to Mary through their participation in October's Living Rosary. The burning candles that illuminated the darkened church symbolized the reverence and love pledged to Our Lady. Each student distinctly voiced his individual Hail Mary and silently raised his private intentions to our Blessed Mother. The group prayers displayed the united strength continued by this senior tradition.

The seniors standing reverently in a cross-formation which extended up to the altar led the recitation of the rosary.

DAYS WITH GOD

Reading in homerooms stimulated spiritual renewal during the Day of Recollection.

Twice each year the students were given a special opportunity to strengthen their spiritual life. The Day of Recollection provided a momentary pause for conferences and spiritual reading which brought them closer to God. The three-day retreat afforded more time for reflection and the renewal of an active Christian spirit. During these days freshmen, sophomores, and juniors recognized that silence is necessary for spiritual improvement. For the seniors, the closed retreat offered an opportunity for a more personal contact with God. Through these days the school assisted the students in gaining a deep knowledge and understanding of themselves.

The chapel and setting at Lake Tomahawk represented the peaceful atmosphere of the various senior retreat centers.

During the high school retreat the students responded enthusiastically to the conferences of Reverend Joseph Uvietta, S.M.

Newly introduced at St. Mary this year was the sodality chorus. This group of girls taught everyone that reverence, combined with effort, can prove to be a wonderful experience in the art of music. Among their various activities, the chorus visited the hospitals and went Christmas caroling. A new feature was added to the spirit of the exciting year of '66. This was the admittance of boys to the popular S.M.H.S. chorus. Upon accepting the privilege of being in the chorus, the male members helped to make the concerts and festivals more successful. Under the able direction of Sister M. Rosarita and with the combined efforts of all the members, 1966 proved to be a year of excellence. Demonstrating their ability in timed drills and cadence, the band members captured the pride of every S.M.H.S. student at the homecoming festivities. By entering at the football and basketball games, the band members drew forth enthusiasm and pep from the athletic fans. While performing at the winter concert the band showed its competence and vitality.

Those students wishing to give honor and glory to God had an opportunity to practice this in their everyday school life. These opportunities were offered through various organizations. The Catholic Students' Mission Crusade, under the guidance of Sister M. Rosarita, sponsored many fund-raising projects during the year. The money that was obtained from these was distributed to different mission societies throughout the world. The Sodality this year was divided into two separate groups—the boys' section, headed by Father Dewane, and the girls' group, guided by Sister M. Lawrence. However, both sodalities undertook projects together, one which helped to alleviate the loneliness of small orphans at Christmas time. The Legion of Mary, under the direction of Father Dewane, helped to bring Christ closer to shut-ins through personal visits to the hospital. The members also stressed God's love to youngsters in their weekly CCD classes. "Our voices are to serve the Lord," was the cry of the Mass readers, schola, and acolytes. Through service to others, students realized the opportunity to love and serve God.

Our clubs and their interests were part of the spirit of Saint Mary High School this past year. The Health Careers Club concluded its fourth year in introducing students to medical professions. The officers, under the guidance of Sister M. Mechtilde and Mrs. Miriam Crowell, arranged various speakers for the monthly meetings and also interesting, educational field trips. The Future Teachers Association, now in its third year at Saint Mary, continued its chief purpose of aiding students planning to enter the teaching profession. The monthly meetings were followed by individual practice-teaching in the grade school to gain useful experience. The officers and members of the FTA worked together under the guidance of Miss Kentner. The Saint Mary High School Ski Club terminated another successful year under the direction of Mr. Giles Clark. Club officers planned trips to well-known ski areas, among them a weekend jaunt to Camp 10 and a trip to Upper Michigan. "A nose for news" was the theme of this year's newest group, the News Reporters' Club. These students, under the direction of Miss Trettin, assumed the responsibility to see that St. Mary High School and its spirited clubs would be widely publicized throughout the Fox Cities.

HELPING HANDS

Office secretaries, S. Hett and M. Galassie, present the school friendship to our visitors.

"Help thy neighbor" seemed to be in the hearts of many SMHS students. If you saw a student running to-and-fro through the halls with messages, it was probably one of the many office cadets who very willingly sacrificed their study halls and free time to keep the teachers and students well-informed. Busy! You could tell by their faces that Sally Hett and Mary Galassie thoroughly enjoyed their extra hours of service as office secretaries. Their pleasant smiles warmly greeted many visitors throughout the day. Library hours can be long and tedious, but Sister Adelle found the task lighter with the efficient help of the Library Club. These girls assisted Sister in keeping magazines and newspapers up to date and in shelving books. "May I help you?" cheerfully queried the cafeteria cadets in their eagerness to be of assistance in collecting money, serving meals, and stacking dishes. Lunch became an enjoyable time of the day with the happy faces of the cafeteria clerks. Courtesy and helpfulness characterized the slide technicians in their desire to aid in the showing of movies, slides, or even setting up electrical equipment. These helping hands at St. Mary were an asset to the faculty and the entire student body throughout the year.

AT THE CROSSROADS

*You to the left and I to the right,
For the ways of men must sever—
And it well may be for a day and a night,
And it well may be forever.
But whether we meet or whether we part
(For our ways are past our knowing),
A pledge from the heart to its fellow heart
On the ways we all are going!
Here's luck!
For we know not where we are going.*

Dear Friends,

Often during the year we did not have an opportunity to express our appreciation for all the help and guidance our yearbook received. The success of our book is dependent upon the cooperation we received from the staff and your individual support. Thank you again for your assistance in making the 1966 RENARD a success.

THE EDITORS

Dear Barb -

Haven't we had fun in French?
And remember all those phone calls asking for help in algebra? I hope we can do a lot of things together this summer. (Like to some of those summer dances). Wow! Are you coming to the library this summer. I hope so. I'll be there getting a lot of my material ready for Forensics.

Bye now,
Jealous

Hi Barb M,
Lots of luck as a Sophy!
Of course I know you won't pass Freshman year
with your brains!

Good luck
Barb (MF)
Hope you have fun too!
(Larry's mine!)

Hi Barb
Next time Rita
has a slumber party, be able to move your
we couldn't have you up stairs. Best of luck as a "Mighty Rita": Big Sis

Are you still trying to convince everybody that you're a Martian? or are you through that "fantasy"? Did you know that Lowell believes that I'm dead - I don't know - maybe he believes the same - strange he should say it to me - maybe he thinks I'm a fellow believer!
maybe Sam - he's about the only person I can really truly count on to tell the truth about anything (no offense)

as always
Rita

P.S. I'm otherwise known as TFL
I wrote some other stuff in the front & by the way to long this have fun this summer

Well Barb,

Have fun next year Barb

I finally got your books. If you take French II I wish you luck, and success.

Good Luck

Hi Barb,
It's been nice having you in world history.
Good luck to a good kid!
Rollie

Hi Barb,
So you're Barb. Being so intelligent I wish you a happy Soph and in the future Good Luck and next year see you in summer
Mary Danow

Hi Barb
Good luck as a mighty sophomore I wish you success in what ever you may do

Hi Barb.
Where have you been all year. Behind you in study don't hope to see a big "SOPH" next year so stay out of the ditches & have a real nice summer.
Lemon (Lenny)

Hi Barb,
Have fun & remember me.
Mary Danow
I hope you're not a dumb & stupid in French II. Love
Let's have fun this summer so you'll be a world. Have lots and lots and a whole lot of hope not to be a dumb. We now need to have a quit, happy
At school,

Hi Barb
Hope to see you next year
